

Note that if the disease is rarer, say $\Pr[d] = 0.05$, then the same test parameters give us:

$$\Pr[d \mid +] \approx 0.32.$$

With a positive result you're actually twice as likely to be healthy!